

PATRIOT POINT

A COASTAL WATERFRONT RETREAT

For Recovering Service Members, Veterans
Their Families & Caregivers

2023 IMPACT REPORT

WELCOME TO PATRIOT POINT

Dear Friends of Patriot Point,

The past year has been very rewarding at Patriot Point, as we welcomed so many guests to the property. As always, it was heartwarming to see the impact that Patriot Point makes on the nation's service members, their families and caregivers.

Let us provide a quick recap.

So far this year, nearly 500 guests have visited Patriot Point, totaling more than 1,200 use days and enjoying all that Patriot Point offers. Some hunted. Others fished. Some hit the water to boat, kayak and paddle board. Others enjoyed the peaceful serenity of the beach and our cozy bonfire pit. More than half of the guests were wounded, ill or injured active-duty or veteran service members.

Whether it was an overnight trip, a weekend stay or a respite covering several days, it was wonderful to see the difference Patriot Point makes. First-time guests often arrive quietly, keeping their thoughts to themselves and wondering what their stay holds. But by the time they pack their belongings to depart, many of these individuals seem totally different. They have made new friends, shared new experiences and realize they are not alone in their journeys.

From a facility perspective, improvements continued throughout the property. The first group of 13 chickens is residing in our new chicken coop, a new greenhouse will be installed in mid-December as work toward offering a farm-to-table experience. Construction on a new barn to store our farm equipment and other large items starts shortly.

Additionally, as we strengthen our leadership, an Advisory Council was formed to ensure the sustainability, growth and the future of Patriot Point.

This does not happen without a strong network of supporters. Special thanks to everyone who donated materials, gave their time, discounted their services or offered to phone a contact and bring them into our circle. What we continue to accomplish is a team effort and we could not do it without such amazing support.

Sincerely,

Steve Beck

Patriot Point President & Executive Director

Stuart Plank and Rob Taishoff

Patriot Point Founding Partners

During a fall weekend that welcomed Gold Star Teen Adventures to Patriot Point, one teenager shared that he remembered his father talking about hunting and how much his father enjoyed it. The teenager never got a chance to hunt with his dad, but after taking part in the retreat and the serenity at Patriot Point, he said “I understand what my dad was talking about.”

“I’m sure you hear this all the time but I want you to know how sincerely I mean this,” the teenager told Patriot Point guest coordinator Joy Middleton. “You all have changed my life this weekend.” And then he asked if Joy could give him a hug, something that Joy was proud to do.

Over the years, Bill has employed veterans, organized events to benefit VA hospitals and provided charitable donations to many organizations that benefit veterans.

It was a natural fit for Bill to join Patriot Point's team, furthering his commitment to give back to others and help them achieve their full potential.

JOHN PELLERITO

Cypress Real Estate Company
Principal

John Pellerito's introduction to Patriot Point came at the annual Home of the Free ... Because of the Brave dinner. He was immediately moved emotionally by the work Patriot Point does for service members and inspired to contribute.

On his first trip to Patriot Point, John immediately noticed how the buildings and grounds were built to accommodate all service members and their families. He felt the care and passion that has been invested in Patriot Point and how that conveys to guests and helps them heal.

A graduate of Colorado State University, John lives with his wife and two children in Loudoun County, Va.

STUART PLANK

Patriot Point
Co-Founder

Stuart Plank has always taken an interest in veteran's causes and supporting the nation's service members. When the opportunity presented itself, it was Stuart who helped create what is now known as Patriot Point.

Stuart had visited the property with its previous owner, Jim Bugg, as Bugg often brought service members who were recovering at Walter Reed Army Medical Center to what was then known as Poverty Point. When Bugg passed away in 2015, Stuart, who played football at Virginia Tech, approached Military Bowl Foundation President & Executive Director Steve Beck.

Could the Military Bowl Foundation purchase the 294-acre property and take what Bugg was doing to another level? It was an ambitious plan, but Plank was there to sign on as a founding member and in the spring of 2016, Patriot Point became a reality.

MIKE STRITTMATTER

Strittmatter Companies
President

It was while sitting around a bonfire one night at Patriot Point that Mike Strittmatter fully appreciated what it meant to help the nation's service members. Mike and a few friends helped host a retreat. Listening to the veterans talk about their experiences inspired Mike to become even more involved in Patriot Point.

A star high school football player who played wide receiver at the University of Maryland, Strittmatter graduated from business school and soon went into business with his father, a U.S. Navy veteran. The family business, Strittmatter Companies, has grown to be one of the Washington area's leaders in excavation and land development.

Strittmatter Companies has often donated labor, materials and equipment for projects at Patriot Point. But getting to know those who have been helped by Patriot Point has motivated Mike to want to do more.

"The experience at Patriot Point is unparalleled. Across 53 unit reunions, we have found no location partner that is better suited to deliver an exceptional experience to combat veterans and Gold Star family members. The beauty and privacy of the property coupled with the care and experience of the staff produces a truly unforgettable experience every time we visit. We are honored to work with the Patriot Point team and look forward to serving many more units together."

-- James Ferguson, Founder, Warrior Reunion Foundation

LT. COMMANDER HUGH MIDDLETON
VETERAN OF THE GAME

COMMANDERS VETERAN OF THE GAME

Patriot Point Vice President Hugh Middleton was honored as the Washington Commanders "Veteran of the Game" following the first quarter of the Commanders' game against the New York Giants this past Sunday.

Hugh, a former U.S. Navy SEAL Lieutenant Commander, served 14 years during which he was assigned to SEAL Teams One, Three, Five, Naval Special Warfare Development Group (NSWDG) and spent time in various overseas assignments including a Special Operations Joint Staff. He also worked in several U.S. embassies and consulates.

"It was flattering to be recognized by the Commanders," Hugh said. "While standing on the field, I could sense the appreciation of the fans, not just for my service, but also for the service of all of the men and women who have served and continue to put themselves in harm's way."

Soon after the game Sunday, the Patriot Point team had a table where fans could learn more about the TRS and receive that consider a safe service and support hub.

IN REMEMBRANCE

Patriot Point pays respects to a few individuals who were near and dear to us and passed away this past year.

MIKE HOWELL was a member of the Patriot Point Board of Managers since its inception. He was 59.

"Mike was a cornerstone of Patriot Point from the very beginning," Patriot Point Vice President Hugh Middleton said. "He played a huge role in our growth and what we have become. He loved spending time with our wounded veteran groups, especially during hunting season. He will be sorely missed by everyone."

Howell also was a board member of the Taishoff Family Foundation and Promise Landing Farm. He was active in the DC commercial construction industry and was a principal and vice president of operations for Evans Contracting Group, Inc. He was a graduate of the University of Florida College of Building Construction.

"Mike was a guy that you could always count on and was so willing to share both his time and expertise," Military Bowl Foundation President & Executive Director Steve Beck said. "He played a vital role in helping Patriot Point become an oasis for recovering service members."

JAYNE PLANK was one of Patriot Point's biggest supporters. Her father served in the Marine Corps in World War I; her stepfather served in the Marine Air Corps during World War II. She was accustomed to being around service members while growing up and regularly attended home hospitality dinners hosted by family and friends for those stationed in Washington. It was only natural that when Plank heard about Patriot Point from her son Stuart, that she wanted to help.

"We've always been oriented to the military," Jayne Plank said in a 2022 interview. "Ours is the greatest country of all. Helping our military and caregivers, it's my joy."

Plank spent her career as a public servant. She worked as Director of Intergovernmental Affairs at the U.S. Department of State and as a Cryptologic Linguist for the National Security Agency. She also served on the Kensington Town Council and later was the first woman elected as the town's mayor, for a total of 15 years of service to the town. She has served as a eucharistic minister at the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda and volunteered with the Yellow Ribbon Fund, which is one of Patriot Point's nonprofit partners.

JOE REYDA, a DC Touchdown Club Executive Committee member, was the longtime athletic director at Gonzaga College High School.

"Simply put, Joe was one of the very best," Military Bowl Foundation President & Executive Director Steve Beck said. "Whether it was chipping in to help on a project, coming up with ideas or just being supportive, Joe was always there to lend a hand. He was a leader in the Gonzaga community and positively influenced so many students who passed through its doors.:

Reyda, a 1985 Gonzaga graduate, worked at his alma mater since 1989 and had served as the school's athletic director since 2001. He also coached golf and football during his 34-year tenure at the school.

"I've been working with the Gridiron Club for over six years supporting Patriot Point and am continually inspired by the dedication of the team. As a major in the Marine Corps, I've seen first hand how important the mission of the organization is and the impact it can have on the lives of service members and their families. Patriot Point gives people the space to reconnect and rebuild and I couldn't be more proud to play a small part in that."
